Special Offer:
Open Circle
Curriculum
2010 Edition

You told us what you needed, and we listened.

The Open Circle Curriculum has been updated for 2010 and is even better than ever!

As a research-in-action program of the Wellesley Centers for Women, we continually assess our program quality through training evaluations, class and school observations, and surveys of schools using Open Circle.

In response to feedback from schools and teachers using the Open Circle Curriculum, and mindful of recent Massachusetts legislation related to bullying prevention, we've updated the Curriculum to ensure that it meets educators' needs and remains on the cutting edge of social and emotional learning (SEL) instruction!

We have enhanced the 2010 edition of the Open Circle Curriculum in these areas:

BULLYING PREVENTION

- New content, reviewed by nationally-recognized, bullying-prevention researcher Nan Stein, Ed.D., to help educators identify, prevent, and address bullying behavior
- Up-front emphasis on bullying prevention and a Do's and Don'ts list to help teachers respond to bullying "in the moment"
- Clear connections for leveraging Open Circle concepts and skills to prevent and address bullying

EMOTIONAL REGULATION

- Greater focus on emotional regulation skills
- Stronger and more lessons on calming down and self-talk included earlier in lesson sequence

EVALUATION AND ASSESSMENT

- Enhanced evaluation tools, including mid-year and year-end class skill assessments

CHILDREN'S LITERATURE (OVER 75 NEW TITLES!)

- Latest and greatest high-quality children's literature that links to social and emotional concepts

CULTURAL RELEVANCE

- Greater inclusion and representation of diverse student populations, particularly students in urban environments

STUDENT VOICE

- Lessons are even more student-directed, encouraging development of critical-thinking skills

Between now and October 29, we invite all educators who have completed the Core Program for Grade-Level Teachers to order an updated Open Circle Curriculum for just $50 (a 30% discount!).

In doing so, they commit to completing a brief survey about the Curriculum in June 2011.

To participate in this special offer, complete the order form on the reverse.
